INJURIES MAY BE FATAL YET

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Simpson of Blue Ridge Are Hurt, Both Seriously.

BUGGY OVERTURNS IN ROAD

Aged Man Suffers Broken Leg and Internal Injuries, His Wife Fractured Rib and Shoulder.

W. T. Simpson and Mrs. E. E. Griffith, both living in North Jackson street, received word last evening of an accident in which their uncle, Benjamin Simpson and wife of Shelby county, were both injured near Blue Ridge on the Rush-Shelby county line. It is believed that the injuries of Mr. Simpson may result fatally, due to his old age, and the fact that he has been in very poor health for a number of years. Mrs. Simpson is also in a serious condition. They were thrown out of their buggy while on their way from Blue Ridge to Waldron, when the vehicle was overturned while they were trying to pass another at a narrow place on the road.

Mr. Simpson was internally injured and he also received a broken leg, the fracture being near the hip and in the same place where the limb was broken once before several years ago. Mrs. Simpson suffered a fractured rib and a broken shoulder blade.

Both were picked up senseless following the accident and were removed to their home. They were attended by Dr. George Lewis and both passed a very bad night. Their condition was not improved Friday and their friends and relatives are very much alarmed and fear the injuries will prove fatal, especially in the case of Mr. Simpson.

The accident occurred late in the afternoon at a culvert near the home of Haydon Wagner on the county line south of Blue Ridge. Seeing the approaching vehicle they were to meet, Mr. Simpson pulled to the side of the road. Some high grass and weeds prevented the aged man from seeing the treacherous ditch at the roadside and the buggy went over without any warning.

Mr. Simpson is a veteran of the Civil war and is well known over both counties. He has been in failing health for several years and suffered greatly from the nervous shock attending the accident.

READS OF SISTER'S DEATH

T. M. Houston of Knightstown Knew Nothing of Relative's Demise.

T. M. Houston of Knightstown was reading a local paper the other day when he happened on to an account of the death of his sister, Miss Rosanna E. Houston at her home in Miami, Oklahoma. He had never been notified of her death until he read the story in the newspaper. Mr. Houston was somewhat surprised that he had received no news of her death. She had been buried at the time he found the article in the paper.

FINED $5 AND COSTS.

Lee Gilson was fined five dollars and costs last night by Mayor Black when he pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication. This was Gilson's second offense and he will remain in the jail for 15 days as a result.

Ed Casady, who has been ill this week, is somewhat improved.

FILED SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mary Sweet Alleges That Husband Beat Her.

Mary Sweet has filed suit in the circuit court for divorce from her husband, James F. Sweet. In the complaint she alleges that he struck her and on several occasions threatened to shoot her. She states that he failed to provide and that on December 29, 1910, he deserted her. They were married January 6, 1907.

WERE COMPELLED TO STOP BY RAIN

Walkers in Long Hike Forced to Stay in Fountaintown Over Night—

MANY THRILLING INCIDENTS

Miss Mary Williams, living west of the city, and Miss Dorothy McLaughlin of Indianapolis, the two Butler College students who walked from Irvington to this city, were compelled to make the journey in laps. They started on their long hike Wednesday morning at five o'clock and they reached Fountaintown at 12:30 o'clock. Here they were overtaken by a heavy rain storm and were compelled to remain over night. The situation was very embarrassing to the two young women as they did not know a person in the town and attracted no little attention by their unusual manner of travel. They left Fountaintown Thursday morning at five o'clock and arrived at the Williams home at noon. Many were the incidents of the long walk, and they consider it the trip of their lives.

NAME TEACHERS FOR NEXT YEAR

School Board Completes Work This Mornng by Naming Miss Isabel Melcher Instructor in Music.

CHANGES IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

Grades Are Changed Only in One or Two Instances—McDaniel is Retained as Principal.

The school board finished the work of selecting the teachers for the coming year at a meeting this morning. The board has had considerable difficulty in selecting a music teacher and it was not until today that the teacher in this special work was employed. Miss Isabel Melcher of Vevay, Ind., was named as the successful applicant. Miss Melcher comes to this city highly recommended and is said to be a very talented musician.

The high school faculty will present two new faces when school begins. Frank Fory of Flora, Ind., has been employed as an instructor in German and English. Mr. Fory was principal of the Farmland high school last year and is a graduate of DePauw University, having completed his course in 1910. While in DePauw he majored in German and is said to be very strong in this line.

The other new teacher is John R. Clark of Worthington, Ind. Mr. Clark will teach Mathematics. He will finish his work in this study this year at Indiana University. Mr. Clark is said to have had considerable experience in teaching and will, no doubt be a valuable addition to the faculty.

O. D. Tyner, who was given a year's leave of absence to complete work in Indiana University, will return to this city after the mid-year promotion and will complete the year. With Mr. Tyner's return the number of teachers in the high school will be eight and in all probability this number will be retained as the work is becoming too heavy for seven teachers.

There are not many changes in the grades, most of the teachers being retained. Miss Mae Meredith becomes principal of the Havens school in the place of Miss Nina Ford, who was only recently married. There will be only one teacher this year at the Washington school, this being Miss Cora Smith. She becomes principal in the place made vacant by Prof. J. H. Williams.

The following is the complete list of teachers as selected by the school board:

High school—M. R. McDaniel, principal; Miss Anna Marlatt, Latin; H. B. Wilson, English; Miss Ida Ludlow, History and Latin; L. B. Smelser, History and Mathematics; John R. Clark, Mathematics; Frank Fory, German and English.

Graham school—Miss Anna Fisher, principal, 8A; Miss Pet Meredith, 8B; Miss Margaret Casady, 7A; Miss Pearl Applegate, 2B and 3B; Miss Edith Caldwell, 1B and 1A.

Havens school—Miss Belle Forsythe, 5A and 5B; Miss Georgia Morris, 4B and 4A; Miss Teco Holden, 3B and 3A; Miss Edith Hiner, 2B and 2A; Miss Mae Meredith, principal, 1A; Miss Elizabeth Waite, 1B.

Jackson school—Miss Nelle Casady, 7B; Miss Elizabeth Flint, 6A; Miss Margaret Flechart, 6B; Miss Pearl Kitchen, 5 A and 5B; Miss Ellen Madden, 4B and 4A; Miss Carrie Kitchen, 3B and 3A; Miss Belle Gregg, principal, 2B and 2A, and Miss Lois Fritter, 1A and 1B.

Special teachers—Miss Henrietta Coleman, drawing; Miss Isabel Melcher, music.

RUSHVILLE HOLDS A NEAR RECORD

More Horses Being Trained Here Than at Any Point in The United States.

EXCEPTION OF INDIANAPOLIS

Interest in Business Has Revived and is Being Pushed With Renewed Vigor.

This week the Western Horseman, one of the oldest and best known horse publications in the United States, makes the remarkable statement that, outside of Indianapolis, there are more fast horses being trained in this city than at any other point in the State and possible at any other point in the Union. This comes as a high compliment to Rushville and Rush county, which has always been one of the best horse centers in the United States.

For a time it seemed that the horse business was on the wane but the contrary seems to be the case now. Interest in the racing game has been revived and now approximately two hundred fast and well bred animals are being trained within less than a mile of the city limits. The Western Horseman gives a result of the trainers and their work as follows:

At the Posey Stock Farm half-mile track, the home of William Dagler & Sons, the stables are full and other trainers also avail themselves of the opportunity of its use. Fred and Clayton Dagler have in charge the race prospects and colts that are getting their early education, and from indications will have their racing material as fit as any of those that will race where they have made their entries.

The workouts on Tuesday at the Posey Stock Farm track by Dagler brothers were: Bayline, a four-year-old green trotter, in 2:27, last half in 1:11 and last quarter in 34¾ seconds; the trotting stallion, Admiral Red, 2:09¼, in 2:21, last half in 1:08 and last quarter in 32 seconds; Mobella, 2:24¼, in 2:21, the half in 1:07 and last quarter in 32 seconds; but the cream of their green ones are the two three-year-olds by Blackline, Springline and Rush B., out of Gertrude Nelson and Elsie Leonard, which have been a mile together in 2:28, a half in 1:11 and last quarter in 34¼ seconds at the trot. The Dagler horses are being entered and staked over the half-mile tracks of Central and Eastern Indiana.

At Riverside Park, the mile track, the fastest miles are being worked. In Harrie Jones' stable his C. of C. candidates, The Hermitage, 2:13¼, and Mary Boo, 2:14¼, have had the fastest work. The former has been a mile in 2:14¼, a half in 1:05½ and a quarter in 29¾ seconds; the latter has been in 2:15, a half in 1:05½ and a quarter in 30½ seconds.

His other horses that are staked in the Grand Circuit are: Charm P., 2:12¼, that has worked in 2:17, last half in 1:07 and a quarter in 31¾ seconds; Baron Dillon, Jr., 2:13¾, that has been a mile in 2:20½, a half in 1:08 and a quarter in 33 seconds, and has been bred to some thirty mares since he came to Rushville, and for that reason not given as hard work as some of the others; Max Lockheart, 2:14¼, that has shown a mile in 2:14¼, a half in 1:05¼ and a quarter in 30¾ seconds; May Dillon, 2:10¼, that has been a mile in 2:19¼, last half in 1:07½ and last quarter in 33 seconds; Bessie mile in 2:20, a half in 1:07 and a Prodigal, 2:17½, that has been a quarter in 31¾ seconds; Goldie May, 2:08¼, that has been a mile in 2:15, last half in 1:05½ and last quarter in 30½ seconds; Sallie

PREPARING TO DECORATE

Merchants Are Buying Black and White Pennants of Uniform Size.

Business men are making active preparations to decorate their store fronts and the city streets in honor of the Tri Kappas, who will hold their annual State convention here Thursday and Friday. A uniform pennant of black and white, the colors of the sorority, has been agreed upon and all merchants are ordering them. Over a hundred have already been sold. It is expected that at least one hundred and fifty girls will be here for the convention. They will not begin to arrive before Wednesday evening.

WILL STUDY FOR A TIME IN PARIS

Miss Henrietta Coleman Will Leave
Tuesday to Join Party For Tour Abroad.

WILL VISIT EIGHT COUNTRIES

Miss Henrietta Coleman, instructor in drawing in the city schools, will leave Tuesday to join a party in New York City and sail for a tour abroad during the summer months. Miss Coleman plans to visit seven or eight foreign lands and will spend a few weeks in Paris, where she expects to study. The longest stay will be made there.

Miss Coleman will join a party of twelve in New York City. The members of the company come from various parts of the country and will be conducted by Miss Julia C. Brannan of Chicago, who has had experience in conducting parties on tours abroad. The party will sail from New York City next Saturday on the S. S. Berlin and will land in Naples. From there they will work their way north to England and Ireland, which countries they will tour extensively.

JIBES TOO MUCH FOR ROMANCER

Shoe Mender Who Recited Wonderful
Stories, is Driven Away by Town
Boys' "Cute" Remarks.

IS SECOND DON QUIXOTE

Don C. A. Rivers, an itinerant shoe and harness mender, who arrived in St. Paul several months ago from Elwood, has left there for Mexico. He said, just before starting that life there was too strenuous for him, and that he was unable to "bear the jibes and cute remarks made by hoodlums." Rivers told so many stories that the boys dubbed him a Spanish omanecer and made fun of him. Some of the lads, in teasing him, called him Don Quixote, and others said he was a Baron Munchausen. Rivers has traveled extensively and his stories of adventure bordered on the remarkable. He never pretended, however, to have performed any such feats as Opie Dildock brags about, but the town lads took him for an "easy mark" and succeeded in wounding his sensitive feelings to such a degree that he finally fled. Rivers is of Spanish parentage.

FIVE ANSWER ORR'S APPEAL

That Number Takes to Sawdust Trail at Tabernacle and Publicly Confess Sins.

CROWD NOTICEABLY AFFECTED

Hundreds Make Pilgrimages to Rostrum and Pledge Themselves to War on Sin.

Five persons took to the sawdust trail at the tabernacle last night and were converted while hundreds of others made pilgrimages to the rostrum and shook hands with Evangelist Orr that they would fight sin to the last, after the evangelist had made a realistic and practical exposition of sin as it is today and the hardships and trials which it works. The large audience was affected last night as it has never been before. It was a wonderful and again pathetic plea that Evangelist Orr made last night for lost souls. He beseeched and implored that people living in sin, church members and all alike, confess and try to live a Christian life. His supplication came after what is considered probably the most emotional yet the truest sermon which he has ever preached in the series of meetings.

The Rev. Mr. Orr's plea last night was nearer the heart than it has yet been. There were few people in the large audience who were not forced to brush away a tear that coursed down his or her cheek and others had to resort to better methods of stopping the flow that came uninvited. The final appeal was made while a local quartet, composed of B. F. Miller, Dr. F. R. McClanahan, T. A. Craig and Dr. Frank M. Sparks sang "We Are Going Down the Valley One by One." It was sweet music that was wafted to the ears of the people at the outer edge of the audience, when the four singers barely whispered the melodies of that song.

The singing of the quartet was a part of the after meeting. The after meeting, however, was almost as large as the first gathering. Evangelist Orr gave all those who desired, the permission to leave the tabernacle, but there were only a few who left.

During the singing by the quartet the evangelist asked everyone "who has Christ in their hearts tonight" to stand up. The greater part of the audience arose. After repeated efforts to get persons to publicly confess their sins, Evangelist Orr asked every person who wished Christians to pray for them to hold up their hands. Then he asked every Christian who was willing to pray for them to hold up their hands. There was an impulsive response. Then he asked if there were any workers who would make a personal appeal to someone today.

The Rev. Mr. Orr's sermon was on "The Pleasures of Sin." He argued that it was better to lead a Christian life "than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season," which was his text, taken from the twenty-fifth verse of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews.

Evangelist Orr in words painted the life of Moses, who was reared in all the pomposity, glitter and magnificence of court life, Moses, who, at the age of forty was heir apparent to the throne, turned his life on everything that had to do with show and solemn mockery, to lead the children of Israel from bondage. He declared that the result warranted Moses' act. He said that Moses had given to the world the greatest set of laws which has ever been produced and which is the basis for the laws

Stiles, 2:06½, that has been a mile in 2:15¼, a half in 1:05 and last quarter in 30 seconds; Alecyfras, 2:03½, that has been a mile in 2:16¾, last half in 1:02¾ and last quarter in 29½ seconds; Lady Winwood, 2:09¼, in 2:16½, a half in 1:06½ and a quarter in 31½ seconds; Katherine R., a green trotter by Cecelian Chief, dam by Gambetta Wilkes, that worked a mile in 2:10 last year for Crit Davis, has been a mile in 2:20, last half in 1:07 and last quarter in 32 seconds.

Those not staked down the big line that were worked last Tuesday were: Joe Lederer, 2:12¼, that stepped a mile in 2:16, last half in 1:06¾ and a quarter in 31¼ seconds; John Brydon, 2:12¼, the well-known Illinois pacer, a mile in 2:16¼, last half in 1:06½ and last quarter in 31½ seconds; Dr. Czar, a green four-year-old pacer by Czar, out of a mare by Rensselaer Wilkes, a mile in 2:16, a half in 1:04 and a quarter in 30¾ seconds; D. J. C., a green trotter, a mile in 2:20, half in 1:06¾ and a quarter in 30¾ seconds; The Legatee, 2:17¼, a mile in 2:22½, last half in 1:09 and last quarter in 33¼ seconds; Agnes B., 2:15¼, a mile in 2:16, last half in 1:06 and a quarter in 31¼ seconds.

A three-year-old filly by Ashland Wilkes worked a mile in 2:31, last half in 1:12 and last quarter in 33¼ seconds at the trot; Mary Manners, a green pacer by Gambrel, out of a Raven Wilkes mare, that showed three miles in 2:10 last year, stepped a mile in 2:15, last half in 1:05 and last quarter in 30½ seconds. A two-year-old colt by Bob Douglass, 2:04¼, out of the dam of George Todd, in his thirty-fifth hitch on Tuesday was a half in 1:24, last quarter in 39½ seconds. Two other good two-year-olds by The Bondsman, out of Jersey Wilkes and Onward mares, showed a half in 1:24, with the last quarter in 40 seconds. Curt Gosnell, whose string is the next largest in number at Rush Park, is given credit by the railbirds of having as much class among his trotters and pacers as can be shown by a like number of horses in any stable in the country. His green trotter, Allation by Allerton, 2:09¼, out of Stray Moments, 2:28¼, the producing daughter of Nutwood, that showed a mile two years ago better than 2:10, has been a mile in 2:19, last half in 1:07, and acts like one of the real kind of green ones.

The pacer, Woodcliffe King, 2:16¼, has it on anything at the track if rumors are true. Gosnell has only asked him for a mile thus far in 2:16¼, but he is acting like one of the real stake caliber kind and is just what good judges rated him that are familiar with his last year's work. Harry K. Thaw, 2:11¼, has worked only in 2:29 owing to having been on the sick list early in the season. De Boe Hal, 2:16¼, has shown a mile in 2:17, last half in 1:05¼; Mary B., 2:19¼, a mile in 2:17¼, last half in 1:07¼; Rosabelle, 2:13½, working without hoppers this year, has been a mile in 2:16, last half in 1:05; F. A. L., a green trotter by Anderson Wilkes, has been a mile in 2:22, last half in 1:09; Rambling Dan, a green pacer by Whalebone Jr., has been a mile in 2:18½; Celia W., 2:19¼, was a mile in 2:17½ and a half in 1:05¼; Jim B., a green pacer by Anderson Wilkes, dam by Czar, has been a mile in 2:17½ and a half in 1:07½; and Cyclone Bill, by DeBoe, a green six-year-old pacer, has shown a mile in 2:22½.

Gosnell expects to ship out for his summer campaign about June 22 and will open his campaign at Canton, O., the week of July 4.

Clell Maple has five that he will race. Dale Axworthy, now in the stud, is going slow, but will be raced late in the season. He has only asked a mile of him in 2:36 and a quarter in 35 seconds. A three-year-old pacing colt by Silkweaver, dam by Arthur Hal, which he has worked only three weeks, has shown a mile in 2:36, last quarter in 34 seconds. Nancy Young, a five-year-old green trotter by The Patchen Boy, dam by Raven Wilkes, has shown a mile in 2:29, last half in 1:12 and last quarter in 34 seconds. A four-year-old green pacing mare by Harlow, a son of Anderson Wilkes, has shown him a mile in 2:36, and a good made two-year-old filly by The Patchen Boy, out of The Lady From Rushville, by Raven Wilkes, after some thirty hitches has shown an eighth in 18 seconds.

Clyde Nebro will race over the half-mile tracks this year. His pacer, Martin Kelly, has shown a mile in 2:22½, last half in 1:07 and last quarter in 31 seconds; his four-year-old green pacer, Fairview, by Crescent Route, 2:08¾, dam by Anteros, has been a mile in 2:19, last half in 1:06 and last quarter 31½ seconds; Rhody Patchen, a four-year-old green pacer by The Patchen Boy, out of a mare by Glenwood Prince, has shown a mile in 2:24, last half in 1:08, and Raven Silk, a three-year-old trotter which he is working, by Silkweaver, out of a Raven Wilkes mare, has been a mile in 2:35, last half in 1:15, last quarter in 35 seconds.

Frank Lindsay's stable are all green ones except one, Lady J., 2:19¼, which worked on Tuesday in 2:17½, last half in 1:03½. James W., a four-year-old green trotter by Simmore, out of a Director Chief mare, showed him a mile in 2:26, with the last quarter in 32¾ seconds; a three-year-old trotting filly by Simmore, dam by George W. Lederer, has been a mile in 2:29 and a quarter in 35½ seconds; Prospect Maid, by the Patchen Boy, dam by Gambrel, a four-year-old green pacer that showed a mile last year in 2:22, has been a mile in 2:25, and Chester M., a six-year-old gelding of no particular known breeding, has shown him a mile in 2:24½, last quarter in 33¼ seconds.

Horrie Brooks has been a mile in 2:15, last half in 1:05½ with the pacer John D., 2:19½, and a mile in 2:16, last half in 1:05, with Dan Brown, 2:23.

Mike Kelly and Scott Brannum are located at the Rush County track, just east of Rushville. Kelly has three which he is working. His young stallion, Fostyn, a son of Walnut Hall, 2:08¼, out of Miss Fostyn, by Moko has had a heavy stud season and has not been given any hard work. Kelly's other two are by The Patchen Boy, one a four and the other a five-year-old, out of Baron Posey and Walkill Prince mares.

Scott Brannum has had the trotter, Martin C., 2:21½, a mile in 2:23¼; King, a four-year-old green pacer by Harlow, a son of Anderson Wilkes, dam by Reward J., a mile in 2:19¼, last quarter 32¼ seconds; Teddy Mae, three-year-old by Allation, dam by The Patchen Boy, a mile in 2:30¼, last quarter in 36 seconds at the trot, and with a handsome little two-year-old pacing filly by The Patchen Boy, dam by Baron Posey, a mile in 2:26½, last half in 33½ seconds.

BRICK STREETS MORE POPULAR

Opinion is Expressed That They Are More Costly at First But Cheaper in End.

RUSHVILLE IS PROGRESSIVE

Believed That Road Building Expense
Would be Reduced by Paving Highways.

Rushville is showing true progress in one particular at least and that is in paving her principal streets with brick, says the Connersville News. New Castle and other cities also have the brick street fever and Richmond has begun work with a view to paving the national road three miles beyond the city limits.

Paving streets with brick which should carry with it the putting in of curb and gutter looks expensive and is expensive when the first cost is considered, but taken for a period of say ten years it is about the cheapest method of road making devised.

A gentleman in no way interested in paving contracts, but has a wide knowledge of such matters, stated positively to a group of men yesterday that if every main road in the county were paved with brick the taxpayers expense for road-making at the end of ten years would total less than it does and they would have roads at the end of that period practically as good as when put down. This is not hard to believe by people here in Connersville. Their brick streets have now been down about nine years, and, except where they have been disturbed in putting in or repairing underground piping they are to all appearances as good as when laid. The public would not now go back to the mud streets in use previous to 1902 for double or treble what they cost.

The Barrett law is a help in making such improvements and is just now being taken advantage of by people of Indiana more than ever before.

CHERRIES ARE RIPE AND PLENTIFUL TOO

Will be in Excellent Condition For Preserving But Will Lack Usual
Sweetness.

HAVE RIPENED VERY QUICKLY

Cherries are ripe and plentiful. They are also cheap and will be cheaper before the season is past, says the commission man and the farmer. Just to make up for the expected cheapness however, the farmer says cherries will be small and not very sweet.

It is explained, the cherries will be plentiful because of the warm sun so early in the spring together with the plentiful rains. This is said to have forced the ripening of the fruit to such an extent that the cherries were falling from the trees before the full growth had been reached. The same thing applies to the maturity of the fruit, so that cherries will not be of the sweetest this year, although they will be in excellent condition for preserving.

The same condition is said to exist in the fruits of the entire Prunus family, which includes the various classes of plums. Plums are reported to be ripening on the trees at a very rapid rate, but they also will be small and not sweet. However, this will probably not affect the size of the boarding house prune this year.

To make country life more attractive to the young folks in particular, it has been advocated that the school houses should be made the social center, instead of them standing empty and idle during the greater portion of the year. The Huntington Herald tells of an interesting feature of the rural life in Huntington county, which is being tried out at Banquo, Wayne township, where a building is to be erected to be devoted to healthful sports, in the interest of the young people of the community. The people of Wayne township are awake to the situation, and are giving encouragement, to the end that life for the young folks shall be made fuller and brighter—that they may not tire of country life and may make the recreation offered them a benefit to the community by cultivation of the habits of life and honest interest they should enjoy.

FIVE ANSWER
ORR'S APPEAL

of all civilized nations today. "I have no patience with the man of today who can't give up his habits, when I think of Moses," declared the evangelist.

The first proposition which the Rev. Mr. Orr made was that there is pleasure in sin. That is a fact, he said. He asserted that there is pleasure in the dance house, the gambling den, in the gratification of human passions, in getting even and even in killing a man. He declared that men often go into sin by degrees merely for the pleasure that it affords and then are unable to break loose.

"Will the pleasures of sin pay?" asked the evangelist. "That is a practical question that I will discuss in a practical manner. It will not be from a Bible standpoint. And from a practical standpoint I say no, a thousand times no. If there were no heaven, hell or judgment, it would not pay and I am going to prove it."

In the first place the evangelist declared, the pleasures of sin will not pay from a financial standpoint. He said that there were men he knew, and probably many in this city, who have wasted a fortune to enjoy the pleasures of sin and who can not now clothe their families decently.

"And you voted some time ago," he continued, "to have saloons so you could enjoy the pleasures of sin. I have been talking to some business men and I find that you have six. Let's figure. Down in my home town, we found after investigation that the sixteen saloons averaged taking in twenty thousand dollars a year, which makes a total of $320,000. We get just $16,000 in taxes back. In other words we were out $304,000. A local man has said that the six saloons here will average about $15,000 each a year. Multiply that by six and you get $90,000. You get $4,200 taxes back and the $85,800 is a dead loss.

"What are hogs worth today?" he asked the audience.

"Six dollars," someone replied.

"Let's figure again. There are five thousand people here. You get back $4,200 for the pleasure of enjoying the saloons. That's less than one dollar apiece. You sold yourself for that much when you voted to bring them back here. And here we are told that a common pig is worth six dollars. The churches of the city do not cost fifty thousand dollars a year, no, not one-half that amount. Not only all this does the saloon do, but it debauches manhood and womanhood. That's so much greater than the financial question."

The Rev. Mr. Orr declared that the pleasures of sin did not pay in reputation. He said that he knew young men and women, and that possibly there were some of the class in Rushville, who were hiding themselves away because they had enjoyed sin and lost their reputations.

"But more than that," said Evangelist Orr, "the pleasures of sin stamp a man's character. Character is above the other two reasons that I have mentioned, money and reputation. It is a priceless jewel. Can we afford to wreck our character for the pleasures of sin?"

The Rev. Mr. Orr declared that the pleasures of sin are short lived. He said that in order to derive pleasure from sin it is necessary to repeat it again and again. He asked that a note be struck on the piano. He pointed out that it lasted but for a brief period and that in order to get music out of the piano it was necessary to beat the notes again and again. So it is with sin, he said.

Evangelist Orr declared that the pleasures of sin always leave a string behind them. He said that guilt was always connected with them and that the two are inseparable. He said that a guilty conscience, the result of enjoying sin, was the cause for suicides. "The biggest fool outside of hell is the man who makes an enemy out of his conscience," he reiterated. "The oftener you indulge in the pleasure of sin the more you will have to add to it each succeeding time in order to get the same amount of pleasure out of it," was his next proposition. He referred to the swearing, the gambling or the drinking man. He said they started in slowly at first and the habit grew and grew, due to the fact that they must go one step farther each time in order to derive the same pleasure.

"Here's where dancing comes in," he said. "I am not a fool about dancing and card playing, but there are some facts that must be considered. You can play basket ball, base ball or any of the other sports with the sexes divided, yet, when it comes to dancing, the sexes must always be together. That's the awful truth. Statistics show that seven-tenths of the fallen women in New York City began on the downward path at parlor dances. They, many of them the daughters from the best homes, went farther and farther until they were lost. Sin is no respecter of persons. There's harm in it; there's danger in it. I would rather get a telegram tonight that all five of my daughters were dead and I would rather go home and bury them—I have buried a child and I know what it means—than to see them go to a dance of today. And let me add that I think a fallen man is just as low down as a fallen woman."

"People laugh at sin," he declared, "and yet how many mothers are there in this city tonight who have the imprint of their son's boot heel on their heart? Young men and young women, how many of you are killing your mother or father in order to enjoy the pleasures of sin?" The evangelist spoke of the man who breaks his wife's heart by turning his back on the church and enjoys the pleasures that sin affords. He declared that the man had better blow out her brains and be hung as he deserves than kill her by degrees.

He said that fathers and mothers in order to indulge themselves in the pleasures of sins went ahead and played cards and danced and set an example for their children. When their children take a step downward and are finally laid in an early grave, he said that the parents should have the undertaker write on the coffin, "Dead Because Their Parents Enjoyed the Pleasures of Sin."

"It is not only of the things I have mentioned," the evangelist continued, "but the people living in sin are only driving the nails deeper into the Redeemer's body; they are making the sword thrusts more painful. That nasty viper, sin, will crush the life out of you in the end and yet you laugh at me because I stand here and plead with you to give it up. Will you hug your sin and throw your soul away or will you hug your soul and cast your sin on the waters as the old ship goes down? Christ is the only chance."

At the opening of the service the Rev. John B. Meacham made a brief address in which he predicted that Rushville would be swept from border to border for Christ before the meeting ended. He said that he knew men who were staying away from the tabernacle because they feared that God would break into their lives.

Harry Ross, choir leader, who is meeting with success with his share of the work, sang a solo at the beginning of the meeting.

SERMON HAS HAD EFFECT

Said That Many Enemies Are Friends
"Once More."

If all reports be true the tabernacle meetings here have not been without effect. One night this week the Rev. W. W. Orr preached a very strong sermon urging men and women to forgive their enemies and forget the wrongs that had been done them. It is said that many old quarrels have been made up and many people who have been enemies for years are friends once more. One case is cited where a prominent widow, who is alleged to have caused trouble between a man and his wife, went to the woman and solicited her forgiveness.

FINED BY SQUIRE.

Jacob Williams, a bartender at the Roth saloon, pleaded guilty to the charge of profanity this afternoon in Squire Kratzer's court and was fined one dollar and costs, which was stayed. AMUSEMENTS

If the weather permits the Star Grand will show in the Airdome tonight, otherwise will show in the theater and will present two fine pictures. The first is a Nestor drama entitled "The Stolen Necklace." The second picture is an American comedy-drama entitled "One Month to Live." Miss Blanche Wrennick will sing "The Kissing Man."

The Palace theater will open this evening for the first time this week, showing the usual two reels of pictures. The first is a Biograph, "The Country Lovers." It is a great comedy and shows a novel way two lovers have of gaining the girls they love. The other picture will be equally as good as the first. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Vaudet will have the usual big double program tonight, showing two reels of fine pictures. The first is a Champion drama, "Clarke's Capture of Kaskaskia." It is said to be a fine scenic picture as well as being of dramatic interest. The other picture is an Edison, "Princess and Peasant." This one is a thrilling picture, showing many sensational incidents. Leon Maxey will sing a new song.

The Portola has two unusually interesting films. One is a trip with a south pole exploration ship, making its last stop at Punta Arenas, in the Straits of Magellan. Then it shows the ice fields and mountains of the south polar region, but most wonderful of all is the sight of a flock of several hundred King penguins, an aquatic bird, three feet tall and standing and walking erect like a man. The next film is fishing with cormorants in Japan. A cormorant is a large sea bird and a very voracious eater. They are trained to catch fish, and when used thus, a band is placed around their necks to prevent them from swallowing. The fishermen take a number of the birds with them in their boats, and attached to strings they are sent out on the water to catch fish. When a bird has caught a fish it is pulled up on the boat and the fish is pulled out of its craw. Afterward a bird is shown to eat large size fish and made to disgorge a number of times. The third film is a western drama showing fine western scenery including a portion of the alkali desert.

"Something out of the ordinary" is a remark that can properly be made of Sangers Combined Shows which will exhibit in Rushville, Wednesday, June 21.

The big circus has a reputation for producing remarkable surprises in its arena until the public has learned that it can attend an exhibition of the Sangers Combined Shows expecting to see something new and different.

There is an unusual number of features with this show this season. It is difficult to pick the best. Some will like the trained wild beasts' exhibition or horse wonders. Others will prefer the Kirby Family, Meredith Troupe, the Riding Wallets, the Glasgow Royal Horses, the Elite Troupe, while some will spend most of the time laughing at the host of clowns, listening to the Julius Winslow famous band, enjoying the races, admiring the animals or petting the beautiful Dublin Prize Horses. No matter which way one looks while under any one of the Sangers Combined Show tent, he is sure to see something out of the ordinary.

CHAPTER XXIX.

By Force of Arms.

With her heart throbbing fiercely, Hope clung to the outer door of the vestibule endeavoring to see a little of what was transpiring without. About her was dense darkness, and she dare not explore the surroundings. Behind could be heard, through what must have been a thin partition, the various distractions of the stage, shifting scenery, music, shuffling feet, voices, and the occasional sound of applause. The girl had nerved herself to the encounter with Hawley, but this waiting here in darkness and uncertainty tried her to the uttermost. If some one should venture out that way how could she excuse her presence or explain her purpose? She found herself trembling in every limb from nervous fear, startled by every strange sound. Would the man never come? Surely Christie herself must be ready to depart by this time.

Almost prepared to flee before the terrors thus conjured up within her mind, they left her as if by magic the moment her straining eyes distinguished the approach of a dim figure without. She could not tell who it was, only that it was the unmistakable form of a man, and that he was whispering softly to himself. It might not prove to be the gambler, but she must accept the chance for flesh and blood could stand the strain of waiting no longer. Yet she was not conscious of fear, only of exultation, as she stepped forth into the open, her blood again circulating freely in her veins. At the slight creak of the door the man saw her, his whistle ceasing, his hat lifted. Instantly she recognized him as Hawley, her heart leaping with the excitement of encounter.

"Why, hullo, Christie," he said familiarly, "I thought I was early, and expected a ten minutes' wait. I came out as soon as you left the stage."

"Oh, I can dress in a jiffy when there is any cause for hurry," Hope responded, permitting herself to drift under his guidance. "Are you disappointed? Would you prefer to commune with nature?"

"Well, I should say not," drawing her hand through his arm, and then patting it with his own. "I have seen about all I care to of nature, but not of Christie Maclaire."

"You may learn to feel the same regarding her," Hope answered, afraid to encourage the man, yet eagerly fearful lest she fail to play her part aright.

"Not the slightest danger," laughing lightly, and pressing her arm more closely against his body. "Although I must confess you exhibited some temper when I was late to-night."

"Did I not have occasion to? A woman should never be kept waiting, especially if her engagement be imperative."

"Oh, I am not finding any fault, you little spit-fire. I like you all the better because you fight. But the trouble was, Christie, you simply jumped on me without even asking how it occurred. You took it for granted I was late on purpose to spite you."

"Well, weren't you?" and the girl glanced inquiringly up into his face, as they passed out of the alley into the light of the Trocadero's windows. "You certainly acted that way."

"No, I did not; but you wouldn't listen, and besides I had no time then to explain. There's a lot happened this afternoon I want to tell you about. Will you give me time to talk with you?"

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur
Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

"Why, of course," surprised at the question, yet full of eagerness. "Why should you ask that?"

"Because I want you alone where no one can overhear a syllable. I'm afraid of that damned hotel. You never know who is in the next room, and the slightest whisper travels from one end to the other. That is one way in which Keith got onto our deal—he had a room next to Willoughby and Scott, and overheard them talking. I'm not going to take any more chances. Will you go to 'Sheeny Joe's' with me?"

She drew back from him. "Sheeny Joe's? You mean the saloon near the depot?"

"Sure; what's the use of being so squeamish? You sing and dance to a saloon crowd, don't you? Oh, I know you're a good girl, Christie, and all that. I'm not ranking you with these fly-by-nights around here. But there's no reason that I can see why you should shy so at a saloon. Besides, you won't see any one. Joe has got some back room where we can be alone, and have a bite to eat while we're talking. What do you say?"

"Oh, I would rather not," Hope faltered, bewildered by this unexpected request, already half-tempted to break away and run. "Really I—I don't want to go there."

Hawley was evidently surprised at this refusal, naturally supposing from her life that Miss Maclaire's scruples would be easily overcome. This obstinacy of the girl aroused his anger.

"You women beat the devil," he ejaculated, gruffly, "pretending to be so damn particular. Maybe you'd rather stand out there on the prairie and talk?" with a sweep of his hand around the horizon.

"Yes, I would," catching desperately at the straw. "I'm not afraid of you; I'm not blaming you at all, only I—I don't want to go to 'Sheeny Joe's.'"

He looked at her, puzzled at her attitude, and yet somewhat reassured by her expression of confidence. Oh, well, what was the difference? It might be better to let her have her own way, and the change would not materially interfere with his plans. Of course, it would be pleasanter sitting together at one of Joe's tables, but he could talk just as freely out yonder under the stars. Besides, it might be as well how to humor the girl.

"All right, Christie," his voice regaining its pleasant tone. "You shall have your way this time. There is too much at stake for us to quarrel over this."

Frightened, yet not daring to resist or exhibit the least reluctance, she clung to his arm, and permitted him to lead her to the right down a dark passage and out into the open land beyond. He had to feel his way carefully, and scarcely spoke, yet proceeded as though the passage was reasonably familiar and he had some definite point in view. She answered in monosyllables, now thoroughly re-that, in emergency, she might grasp it more quickly. Hawley felt the movement, the trembling of her arm.

"You are afraid, just the same," he said, pressing her to him lover-like. "Darkness always gets on a woman's nerves."

"Yes, that and loneliness," resenting his familiarity. "Do we need to go any farther? Surely, we are alone here."

"Only a few steps; the ravine is yonder, and we can sit down on the rocks. I want to smoke, and we will be entirely out of sight there."

He helped her down the rather sharp declivity until both were thoroughly concealed below the prairie level. Feeling about with his hands he found the surface of a smooth rock, and seated her upon it. Then a match flared, casting an instant's gleam across his face as he lighted his cigar. Blacker than ever the night shut down about them, and he groped for a seat beside her. She could perceive just one star peering through a rift of cloud, and in her nostrils was the pungent odor of tobacco. With a little shiver of disgust she drew slightly away from him, dreading what was to come. One thing alone she felt was in her favor—However familiar Hawley attempted to be, he was evidently not yet sufficiently sure of Miss Maclaire to become entirely offensive. She might not have frowned at his love-making, but apparently he had not yet progressed sufficiently far in her good graces to venture to extremes. Hope pressed her lips together, determined to resist any further approach of the man. However, his earliest words were a relief.

"I reckon, Christie," he said slowly, between puffs on his cigar, the lighted end of which faintly illumined his face, "you've got the idea I have brought you out here to make love. Lord knows I'd like to well enough, but just now there's more important matters on hand. Fact is, my girl, we're up against a little back-set, and have got to make a shift in our plans—a mighty quick shift, too," he added, almost savagely.

"I—I don't think I understand."

"No, of course, you don't. You imagine all we've got to do in a matter of this kind is to step into the nearest court, and draw the money. One trouble is, our evidence isn't complete—we've got to find that woman who brought you up."

"Oh!" said Hope, not knowing what else to say.

"Yes," he went on, apparently satisfied with her exclamation. "Of course, I know she's dead, or at least, you say so, but we haven't got enough proof without her—not the way old Waite promises to fight your claim—and so we've got to hunt for a substitute. Do you happen to know any old woman about the right age who would make affidavit for you? She probably wouldn't have to go on the stand at all. Waite will cave in as soon as he knows we've got the evidence."

He waited for an answer, but she hardly knew what to say. Then she remembered that Keith insisted that Miss Maclaire had no conception that there was any fraud in her claim.

"No, I know no one. But what do you mean? I thought everything was straight? That there was no question about my right to inherit?"

"Well, there isn't, Christie," pulling fiercely on his cigar. "But the courts are particular; they have got to have the whole thing in black and white. I thought all along I could settle the entire matter with Waite outside, but the old fool won't listen to reason. I saw him twice to-day."

"Twice?" surprise wrung the word from her.

"Yes; thought I had got him off on a false scent and out of the way, the first time, but he turned up again like a bad penny. What's worse, he's evidently stumbled on to a bit of legal information which makes it safer for us to disappear until we can get the links of our chain forged. He's taken the case into court already, and the sheriff is here trying to find me so as to serve the papers. I've got to skip out, and so've you."

"I?" rising to her feet, indignantly. "What have I done to be frightened over?"

He laughed, but not pleasantly.

"Oh, hell, Christie, can't you understand? Old Waite is after you the same way he is me. It'll knock over whole case if he can get you into court before our evidence is ready. All you know is what I have told you—that's straight enough—but we've got to have proof. I can get it in a month, but he's got hold of something which gives him a leverage. I don't know what it is—maybe it's just a bluff—but the charge is conspiracy, and he's got warrants out. There is nothing for us to do but skip."

"But my clothes; my engagement?" she urged, feeling the insistent earnestness of the man, and sparring for delay. "Why, I cannot go. Besides, if the sheriff is hunting us, the trains will be watched."

"Do you suppose I am fool enough to risk the trains?" he exclaimed, roughly, plainly losing patience. "Not much; horses and the open plains for us, and a good night the start of them. They will search for me first, and you'll never be missed until you fail to show up at the Trocadero. Never mind the clothes; they can be sent after us."

"To-night!" she cried, awakening to the immediate danger, and rising to her feet. "You urge me to fly with you to-night?—now?"

"Sure, don't be foolish and kick up a row. The horses are here waiting just around the end of the ravine."

She pressed her hands to her breast, shrinking away from him.

"No! No! I will not go!" she declared, indignantly. "Keep back! Don't touch me!"

Hawley must have expected the resistance, for with a single movement he grasped her arm as she turned to fly, pinning her arms helplessly to her side, holding her as in a vise.

"Oh, but you will, my beauty," he growled. "I thought you might act up and I'm ready. Do you think I am fool enough to leave you here alone to be pumped dry? It is a big stake I'm playing after, girl, and I am not going to lose it through the whims of a woman. If you won't go pleasantly, then you'll go by force. Keep still, you tigress! Do you want me to choke you?"

She struggled to break loose, twisting and turning, but the effort was useless. Suddenly he whistled sharply. There was the sound of feet scrambling down the path, and the frightened woman perceived the dim outlines of several approaching men. She gave one scream, and Hawley released his grip on her arms to grasp her throat.

She jerked away, half-stumbling backward over a rock. The revolver, carried concealed in her dress, was in her hand. Mad with terror, scarcely knowing what she did, she pulled the trigger. In the flash she saw one man throw up his hands and go down. The next instant the others were upon her.

HIS LAST WORDS

Spoken on Gallows Protested His Innocence of Crime.

Harrisburg, Ill., June 17.—"Here goes an innocent man," were the words spoken by Alexander King, colored, condemned murderer of John Mitchell, as the black cap was adjusted on him by Sheriff Mooneyham. King spoke a few words, stoutly protesting his innocence and saying that he was prepared to die.

The execution of King was the first hanging in Saline county. King and Albert R. Green killed John Mitchell, King's father-in-law, for money and burned the house. Green turned state's evidence and was sent to the penitentiary. King was tried and convicted. He formerly lived in Gibson county, Indiana, and his body was sent to Lyle's station for burial.

Attempted Bribery Alleged.

Kansas City, June 17.—Walter K. Palmer, president of the W. K. Palmer Construction company, has filed with one of the commissioners of Kansas City, Kan., charges that three different men asked him for money to pay a bribe to a specified trio of Kansas City, Kan., commissioners for awarding him the contract to build the $350,000 municipal electric light plant in that city. Palmer's affidavit came after the commissioners had given the contract to another firm.

MANY HOMES ARE MADE GLAD TODAY

Sunshine is Flooded Into More Than Two Hundred Hearts by Personal Workers.

INVALIDS AND SICK VISITED

Each One is Given Beautiful Boquet
And Pot Plant—Sunday Program.

Doubtless it will never be known how many hearts were made glad and how many homes were made happy today, when all of the "shut-ins" in the city were visited by the personal workers from the tabernacle. The day was suggested by the Rev. W. W. Orr who has found by long experience in evangelistic work it the best way to distribute sunshine and gladness to the homes and hearts of people who are compelled to sit in their home from one day to the next.

Members of the committee who had charge of the work think it a conservative estimate to say that more than two hundred homes in Rushville were visited. About eleven o'clock one hundred and seventy-five houses had been visited there were still many more to go.

Automobiles, buggies and all sorts of vehicles were pressed into service during the day. More than fifty men, women and girls responded to the call for assistance that was made last night. There were more than enough people to do the allotted amount of work. And a marvelous amount of beautiful flowers were donated. They would not have supplied the list that was gathered by the committee, however.

The "nickle" collection at the tabernacle last night was very productive, thirty-two dollars being contributed in the one collection to buy flowers for the invalid and sick of the city. Most of the patients who were visited today received, besides a beautiful boquet, a pet plant of some sort. The first few trips were made without pet plants as they had not been delivered.

In one instance the workers planned to take flowers to a widow and five children, where the head of the house has died only recently. The survivors are very needy and it was decided best to buy groceries and send them in preference to flowers.

Tomorrow's program will begin at nine o'clock, when the Sunday school children will gather at their respective churches and will march to the tabernacle. From there the combined Sunday schools will parade to the Main Street Christian church where the body will be addressed by the Rev. W. W. Orr. At eleven o'clock a sermon will be delivered by Evangelist Orr on "Breaking the Alabaster Box."

At three o'clock in the afternoon a woman's mass meeting will be held at the tabernacle when the evangelist will preach on the subject "God's Ideal Woman." At the same time a men's mass meeting will be held at the First Presbyterian church and will be addressed by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum.

The usual evening service will be held at the tabernacle both this evening and Sunday evening.

Local Young Man Resigns to Take a Position With International Live

TO ASSIST IN ORGANIZING IT

Began His Favorite Profession When he Published First Edition of High School "Budget."

Clifford S. Lee, former editor of the Daily Republican and for the last five years, staff correspondent for the Star league, composed of Muncie, Terre Haute and Indianapolis Stars, has resigned to accept a position with the International Live Stock Insurance Company, which is just now being organized with headquarters in the Meridian Life building in Indianapolis. Mr. Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lee of Jersey City.

Mr. Lee leaves the newspaper game after several years of experience. He took a liking to the business while he was in high school here. He "deviled" around some of the local offices until he was convinced that it was the business for him. He was successful in organizing the local high school class of 1904 so that a high school paper was published for the first time. The high school "budget" came to life in that year under his guidance as editor-in-chief. He was graduated from the high school that year.

The next summer after his graduation he accepted a position as reporter on the Daily Republican, when Ed Hancock was the editor. That was shortly after the Daily Republican had been started. Mr. Hancock resigned later and Mr. Lee was promoted to his position. He worked on the local paper for four years and then went to Indianapolis to accept a position as reporter on the Star. He worked up the position which he held at the time of his resignation by reason of his untiring industry and ability. He has been with the Star for five years.

While employed by the Star league he has handled political stories to a great extent and in that manner has gained a wide acquaintance over the State. He is well known to most prominent politicians. He has traveled over the State on special trains during campaigns and has worked during two sessions of the Indiana legislature.

It is by reason of his large acquaintanceship that he was employed to assist in the organization of the International Live Stock Insurance Company. He will go into the main office as soon as the organization is completed. The company was started sixty days ago and already $200,000 of the $500,000 stock, for which the company was incorporated, has been sold. The stock is said to produce a surplus of $250,000.

The new company is to be managed by competent and experienced men. Oscar Hadley is president. He is former State treasurer, former president of the State Board of Agriculture, president of the Ind. Polled Durham Association of America, and director of the International Live Stock Exposition of Chicago. He is also vice-president of the First National bank at Plainfield. He is a breeder of fine stock and has been an exhibitor for twenty years. Mason J. Niblick of Vincennes is first vice-president. He was twice speaker of the State house of representatives and former president of the State Board of Agriculture. J. J. Williams of Indianapolis, former vice-president of the Reliable Life Insurance Company, is second vice-president. Frank I. Grubbs of Indianapolis, former newspaper man and secretary and treasurer of the Indiana Seal, Stamp and Stencil Company is the secretary and treasurer.

Some folks make great efforts to accumulate property—men spend a lifetime in making a fortune—all with a purpose.

Oftentimes this purpose is frustrated because it includes the accumulation of property, but does not include its disposition. The purpose to distribute one's property can be best carried out by a Will properly drawn by a competent attorney.

The selection of the Executor of your will is also important. We are authorized by law to act in the capacity of executor or trustee under wills.
